

Swedish research politics and the status of Swedish research in an international comparison

Johan Lindell

Director of Department of Research Policy at the Swedish Research Council.

I will give an overview of the governing of research in Sweden and the role of the Swedish Research Council. Further I will present the status of the Swedish research system captured in number of indicators in three aspects; money, staff and production.